

When: April 18, 2017, 6:00 PM - 10:00 PM

Where: Collapsible Hole, 55 Bethune Street, New York, NY

Whether Bauhaus has been on your playlist since before iTunes existed or you're a black-lipstick virgin, the April 18th Art F City Goth Benefit is an event for you. The more black you wear, the better your night.

We're deadly serious about that. Those who come coupled, and in full goth garb will receive a $50 discount. Show up at the door together, and we'll handcuff you for an additional $25. With your help, we'll create a dark and romantic mood for Joseph Keckler, who will perform a 20 minute set of some of his greatest goth opera masterpieces. (Get your stage side table ticket for two, for the full date night experience.) Throughout the night, artist and Instagram star Sean Fader and crew will take your photo and print it out for you.

Coming to this event means supporting Art F City, one of New York's most storied online publications—a brave voice in these challenging times, unafraid to take hard positions and lay out what's at stake. It's this shared sensibility that makes both Goth and AFC so special—and surely that's something to celebrate.
